Mack Draws 3 Years

Defense Appeals For Rockdalian; 2nd Count Untried

Defense attorneys filed a notice of appeal Wednesday in Milam District Court following a guilty verdict and three - year sentence for Rockdalian Obie Mack, 30, Negro.

Mack was tried earlier this week on the first of two charges of assault with intent to murder. He had entered a plea of not guilty based on self defense.

A 12 - man Milam petit jury found Mack guilty of a charge of assaulting without malice, John C. Hirt, Rockdale service station operator, and sentenced Mack to three years in the state peninentary. The jury recommended clemency.

Mack was formally sentenced following the jury deliberation of about three and one - half hours. They came in about 2:30 p. m. Tuesday.

District Court officials said attorneys for the defense waived motion for a new trial, but filed notice of appeal.

A second charge of assault with intent to murder against Mack was not to be considered at this time, Dist. - Atty. Jack Prescott told The Herald.

Both charges stem from a Rockdale fracas Sept. 17, 1960, which culminated in the death of Mack's brother, Sgt. Reggie Mack, 34, and the shotgun wounding of J. M. (Dick) Tuma, Rockdale policeman.

A crowded Milam Courtroom, both main floor and balcony, watched the two - day trial. About 100 Negroes from the Rockdale area were in the crowd.

Attorneys for the defense were: John Henderson, Jr., Cameron, Bob Zeisenheim, Monahans; and Lee Sutton, Abilene.

In closing statements Tuesday morning, Henderson emphasized the defense's position that Mack fired in self defense when he and Hirt got into an argument over a gasoline bill. He said that Mack thought that he had adequate cause to fire the two shots at Hirt with the service station man reaching for a rubber hammer. Henderson said Mack had shown no intent to kill Hirt. Obie Mack had testified that Hirt had hit him on the side of the head.

Zeisenheim, following Hender - son's closing argument to the jury, recounted the defense's viewpoint and stated "that Obie had not intended to see Hirt, "They never had had a cross word before. Hirt testified himself," Zeisenheim emphasized.

Prescott in opening and closing arguments before the jury went out, emphasized that a gun fired twice in the direction of Hirt would "indicate intention, with one shot missing Hirt's head by 10 inches." Prescott said they were trying Mack on how the pistol, a 38-cal., was used. He said the only reason Mack didn't shoot Hirt, earlier in the exchange between the two men at Hirt's station, was he couldn.t get the gun out from his belt.

Prescott asked for a conviction on a 3 to 15 year sentence on the charge. "But if there is a reasonable doubt," Prescott said, "let him go."

In testimony Monday afternoon, Hirt said he called Mack over to his station to ask him about a bill owed by Mack. He said that Mack started the argument, that he pushed Mack back and leaned over to pick up a rubber hammer when shots were fired at him by Mack.

On the stand later, Mack said that Hirt had slammed him on the side of the head, that he was running back from Hirt, dodging a hammer thrown at him.

The defence called Paul Price, Mack's companion, to the stand where he testified that he saw shots fired by Mack.

Prescott called Rockdale JP Leonard Allen who testified that Price, in an inquest on Reggie Mack's death last September, did not mention seeing anything the afternoon of September 17 when the Mack - Hirt fracas occurred.

Defense attorneys objected and were overruled.

The case went to the jury at 10:56 a. m. Tuesday. The 12-man panel came back into the courtroom at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday with

Two Charged In Jesse Kirk's Death

Hubert W. Shuffield, 66, of Cameron, has posted $10,000 bond in Cameron JP Court following charges of murder filed against him and his son, Eual Shuffield 37, in the gunshot death of Jesse Kirk, 44, of Cameron.

Kirk was shot and killed in a cafe on North Travis recently opened by Shuffield. The Cameron truckline operator died instantly of bullet wounds, one in the left temple, one in the left side and a third in left shoulder, Sheriff Carl Black said.

Members of the Cameron Police Dept. and the Milam Sheriff's Dept. were called to the scene about 8:45 a. m. Friday. Kirk was found dead about two feet from the cafe entrance way inside the small building, Black said.

Following an inspection of the scene, County Atty. Jack Prescott interviewed both Shuffields and a waitress Miss Bertha Unger, Cameron, and Robert Donahoe, Cameron, who worked in the small Shuffield grocery next door to the cafe.

Black filed charges Friday against both Shuffield men in JP Judge B. G. Rice's justice court at Milam Courthouse.

Both men were taken to the Dept. of Public Safety in Austin Friday for paraffin tests and lie detector tests. Prescott said the paraffin tests showed powder burns on Hubert Shuffield's right hand. None was found on Eual Shuffield's hands, the Milam Sheriff said.

Prescott said he would recommend that Eual Shuffield's bond be set at $1,000. Shuffield was in County Jail Wednesday.

Black said cause of the incident probably stemmed from an argument over a teargas eye wound suffered by Eual Shuffield about three years ago when a member of Kirk's family was in the Cameron Police Dept.

Both Shuffields waived preliminary hearings Friday. They gave Prescott oral, but not written statements, the county attorney said.

Sheriff Black said three shots were fired from a 22-cal. pistol.

Judge Rice pronounced Kirk's death due to gunshot wounds Friday morning at the cafe. He was called to the scene by other law enforcement officials.

Kirk's body was then taken by ambulance to Marek - Burns Funeral Home.

County Agent Notes

New Industries Indicate Progress

By J. D. Moore
Milam County Agent

NEW INDUSTRIES INDICATE PROGRESS — Two ultra modern "Grade A" Dairies now in operation on the Henry Tomasek farm, Ad Hall community and the H. L. McClaren farm in the Marlow community are sure signs of progress. With a Dairy Herd Improvement Association set up for available records, these plants are run like a business. Once each month the tester for the association weighs and records the milk each cow in the herd. A butter fat test is run on a sample from each cows milk and the production for the month is calculated.

Pounds of milk and the precent butterfat are recorded by the tester. The number of lbs. of the various feeds for each cow is recorded along with the production records. The number of hours of labor required to handle the dairy herd each month is recorded.

All of the production records are run through an I. B. M. machine and a detailed set of records are returned to the dairyman for his information, not only for the herd, but also for each individual cow. These records enable the dairyman to analyze his operation once each month. A feed index figure is arrived at and the dairyman is able to rate his production cost accordingly. Milk sold through the South Texas Producer's Association is pretty well regulated both in price and the amount sold so the dairyman knows pretty well how his operation stands financially at the end of each month.

NOTHING BUT GOOD COWS TO BE MILKED — What is considered a good milk cow? This might be answered in terms of pounds of milk per cow per year. A cow is milked 300 to 305 days and is rested for 60 days each year. If a cow gives 40 pounds of milk per day for 300 days, her annual production would be 12,000 pounds of milk. (1 gallon-8.6 lbs.). If the milk averaged $5.00 per 100 pounds, you are able to get good returns on the cow. The cost of producing 100 pounds of milk should be less than fifty percent of the selling price. If this is not the case, the dairyman should make adjustments to improve this condition.

TOMASEK'S PRODUCTION GOOD — At the end of the first weeks production, the Tomasek herd averaged 60 pounds of milk per cow per day. This production was produced under nearly ideal conditions. The weather was cool grazing excellent and most of the cows at the peak of their lactation.

OTHER FAMILY TYPE FARMS TO GO INTO DAIRY BUSINESS--Several applications are filed in the local FHA office, according to Hoyt Gaston, county Supervisor. Health authorities have approved the use of surface tank water for dairy purposes provided a filter system is installed. This will enable dairies to be operated on farms generally considered inadequate due to lack of underground water.

It is possible to assume that in the form of silage and hay may be produced by some of our feed and grain farmers and sold to the dairymen since it will take the acreage on most of our small farms to produce grazing for these dairy herds.

Davilla HD Club Holds Meeting; Plans Outings

Plans were made for attending the National HD Week Luncheon May 3. Mrs. M. J. Walker, Mrs. H. T. Walker, Mrs. Lester Davis, Mrs. Jack Stewart, Mrs. R. E. Bunker, Mrs. Curtis Freeman and Mrs. T. N. Hine plan to attend the luncheon.

Producers Urged To Study Feed Grain Program

COLLEGE STATION — Grain producers should carefully weigh the advantages and disadvantages of the recently announced feed grain program and apply them to their own situations before making a decision on whether or not to participate. According to Texas Agricultural Extension Service economists, there is only one best way to make the determinations -- take a pencil and paper and do some figuring. Figure the gains and losses that might be expected to result from participation or non-participation in the program.

The economists point out that the effect of the program on net farm income may depend on several factors. The farmer who participates may earn extra income from some or all of the following sources: payments for diverting corn or grain sorghum acreages into conservation uses; higher support prices for grain sold under the program and earnings from labor saved and put to other uses. In addition, there may be savings in out - of - pocket costs which would have been spent for producing and harvesting corn and or grain sorghum from the diverted acres.

On the other hand, they say farmers going into the program should take into account such losses as the costs of plowing up corn or grain sorghum already planted; costs of maintaining acres diverted to conservation uses; costs of extra livestock feed which might have to be purchased to replace production from diverted acres or sold under the program and the reduced income from corn and or grain sorghum as a result of the reduced acreage.

The economists suggest that every grain farmer do some checking on the items listed and others which may apply to his particular farm to see how his earnings might be affected. The expected gains from participating in the program should be totaled along with losses in income that might occur. Simply subtraction will show the net gain or loss that can be expected. The economists point out that only cost and return items affected by the feed grain program should be considered and these may involve other itmes of the farm business besides the corn and or grain sorghum enterprises.

4-H Dairy Club Holds Meeting

The 4-H Club held a meeting recently at the county extension office. Club president, Ronald Kostroun called the meeting to order.

Pat Garner, assistant county agent, talked to the members about entering a milk contest and junior membership in the breeders association. Other club activities were discussed.

The group toured Wilson Mill & Elevator and a program was presented by J. D. Moore, County Agent.

Protecting Your Motor

Does your outboard motor get scuffed, scarred, or thrown out of adjustment when carried in your car trunk?

Next time out try laying it on an old infalted inner tube. The inflated rubber absorbs the knocks and scuffs, and preserves the finish.

To Clean Ducks Easily

Next time you scald ducks to remove the feathers, try using a home detergent in the water. The feathers come off easily and quickly.

Patching Holes in Boots

An enduring emergency patch for that hole in your rubber boot can be made by heating (not too hot) enough common tire tape to do the job, and applying to the dried surface of the boot. It lasts!

Corn and or grain sorghum producers should carefully weigh the advantages and disadvantages of the new feed grain program and apply them to their own situation before making a decision on whether or not to participate.

76th BIRTHDAY

John W. Seidl, Houston, celebrated his 76th birthday recently with children and friends in his home for the celebration. Cake, ice cream, donuts and coffee were served to the visitors.

In 1960, the farmer received only 39 cents out of each dollar consumers spent for food in the United States. The remaining 61 cents went for marketing charges.

Present indications are that egg prices will decline during the late summer and fall months to levels below a year ago.

What Consumer Pays And The Farmer Gets

COLLEGE STATION — Farmers got lower prices for their 1960 produce than for that produce in 1947, but consumers paid substantially more for the foods, according to a research report issued recently by the USDA.

Where did this extra money consumers spent go? It was taken up by increases in marketing costs for wages, containers, fuel, frieght rates, depreciation, rents, advertising, taxes and other costs. Marketer's profits as a percentage of the consumer's dollar showed no decided trend, but their total profits were up.

Although food prices were higher in 1960 than in 1947, the consumer could purchase more food with an hour's wages. This is possible because personal incomes have risen considerably faster than food prices. For example, an hour's work in 1960 would buy 2.5 pounds of beef compared to 1.9 pounds in 1947.

Retail prices of food rose less than prices for all commodities and services, the study showed. Food prices since 1947 are up about one - sixth, but the Consumer Price Index has risen more than one - fourth. Relatively, therefore, food is a bargain for consumers when compared to the total of their other expenditures. Since marketing costs rose faster than the Consumer Price Index, the slower rise in food prices was due entirely to the lower prices paid to farmers.

In 1960, the farmer received only 39 cents of the dollar spent by the consumer for food, the study showed. The remaining 61 cents went to pay marketing charges. The farmer's 39 cents in 1960 compares with 51 cents he received in 1947 and with 32 cents in the depression years of 1932 - 33.

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House

Life is becoming too standardized. Peope are getting stereotyped. We don't have "characters" anymore, except in small towns — and, pretty soon, we won't have any small towns.

Now when I was a boy, there were roaming ex - convicts who lectured on prison atrocities; human flies who climbed buildings with no aid expect their hands and feet; and, every now and then, there would be a visitor who was hard to classify.

One such individual came into town in a buggy drawn by a big shaggy horse; and, trailing on a rope, was the sleekest, silkiest racing mare you ever saw.

"Doc" Martin (that turned out to be the stranger's name) hadn't been in town any time at all bebore the sports were badgering him for a race with "Red" Traylor's big bay. The visitor seemed reluctant but, when mention was made of a $100 bet, his eyes brightened and he said, "All right -- in a couple of days."

There was a half-mile track out at the grove and quite a crowd was there for the race, which was to be 400 yards. Each owner rode his own horse, Martin's mare won by a length but the bay was gaining. Everybody has been pulling for the local entry and there was clamor for another race -- and over a longer distance.

"Doc" didn't say "Yes" and he didn't say "no" -- in fact, he didn't say anything. They kept after him for two days, though and finally, he said, "I'll run my horse against Mr. Traylor's next Saturday--half a mile, but the bet this time will have to be $500." This wa a rat-put up $200 and other sportsmen provided the rest.

The approaching race was the talk of the town and there must have been close to 500 people at the track. It was almost 2 o'clock which was the time for the start and only Traylor and his bay had put in their appearance.

Then "Doc" rode up -- only he was on that shggy plowhorse that had been hitched to the buggy. There was a general laugh.

It was well that the crowd laughed before the race for that uncouth creature made a runaway of it.

There was some haggling to the effect that the more was supposed to have run but Martin declared, "The only stipulation was that my horse was to run -- and he is my horse and he sure did run."

So he collected and departed -- to "take" the sports in some other town.

The world no longer has such a figure as "Doc" Martin, wearing a slouch hat and a shapeless blue serge suit with grease spots, with his buggy and his sleek, silky racing mare and an old clodhopper of a horse that was a disguised thoroughbred.

And so our lives are duller.

AD NOTES

Among Cameron's leading business events is the Rexall Original 1 cent sale opening May 1st at New Cameron's Rexall Drug Store. This famous "Penny Sale" originated in 1913.

Hendreds of items are offered during the six days of the sale, May 1st through 6th.

The sale is being advertised in newspapers, Sunday magazine sections, and on television with the popular MGM-TV "National Velvet" series, the new Sunday evening family show that Rexall druggists are sponsoring.

"Our customers find this sale doubly appealing," Earl Curtis explained. Using a modern selling technique to save his customers both time and money, Curtis employs the use of an Advance Shopping List. These are now ready and can be picked up at his store.

Outdoors In Texas

By Vern Sanford

Texas' Gulf Coast is gaining quite a reputation for its fine ling fishing.

The ling, or cobia (which is the proper common name for fish), is highly prized both for its fighting ability and its edibility.

One some sections of the Gulf Coast, the fish is known as the lemonfish. But let me etll you here and now the ling is no "lemon."

Little ones of 10 to 11 pounds will give you fits on light tackle and the big 50 and 60 pounders can only be handled on haevy gear.

The world record for this fish is 102 pounds. But most ling caught in Texas waters will run around 30 to 40 pounds. Some 60 to 70 pounders are taken around the banks, far off shore.

Ling reach Texas waters late in the spring and hang around for the entire summer. It's interesting to note how they show up. It.s always suddenly.

Usually the runs take place around the ends of piers and jetties. Little ling, those in the 10 to 15 pound class, arrive first. Big ones follow the "youngsters" by a week or two.

Early season runs actually never last very long. Once schools break up, you have to search for the fish.

Ling like to hand around buoys, boats, oil rigs and floating objects. When the coast has big invasions of seaweed, ling fishing is great. Outboarders can score well simply by running from one patch of seaweed to another.

"Fish around the patches and if there is a ling lurking in the shadows he'll come up to investigate your bait," say the old-time Gulf fishermen.

Actulaly you don't need to search out big floating objects. Often there will be a ling under so small an object as an old fruit box, a piece of lumber or a log.

The thing that makes ling fishing so exciting is the fact that quite often you can see the fish coming up to hit the bait. Tyro anglers on observing the long black topedo shape in the water, usually will shout: "Shark!" But nine times out of 10 those "sharks" turn out to be ling.

Fishermen miss a lot of ling simply because they can see the fish moving in on the bait. They become excited and try to set the hook too soon. Actually they just snatch the bait away from the fish.

But if that should happpen to you, don't worry. Just let the bait sink back into the water, for the ling will still be around. In fact, that ling will hang around until you catch him or he tears up your tackle.

Best practice to follow is to give the fish plenty of time to get the bait into his mouth before setting the hook. But be ready when you do bed that hook.

The bite of a hook in the ling's mouth creates the same reaction as opening the throttle of a jet engine. The fish will take off in a mighty run.

Be sure to have plenty of line on the reel to take care of a 60 to 70 yard run.

After the initial run, the ling will sulk. Then about the time you think the battle is won, or the fish sees your boat, it's off to the races again.

If the fish is a 50 or 60 pounder, be prepared for at least an hour-long battle.

Boats obviously hold no fears for ling. Engine noises won't spook the fish. And if you stomp on the bottom, you won't frighten the fish. Some commercial fishermen claim that noise actually attracts the fish.

Sometimes ling can be mighty particular about taking a bait. I've seen them around party-boats. They nose bait after bait before taking one.

Best baits are shrimp, squid and small fish, ling will hit artificial lures, but it usually takes a lot of teasing. To begin with you have to work the lure slow and in a very erratic manner.

At times however the floating lures are deadly.

Cast out the lure and allow it to remain motionless on top of the water for 10 or 15 seconds. Then jerk and reel fast so it will dive three or four feet deep. Stop and allow it to wiggle back to the surface. Keep this up all the way to the boat.

Your ling strike will usually come when the lure is slowly wiggling back to the surface. And a good many of your strikes will come within 15 or 20 feet of the boat.

Ling don't have sharp enough teeth to cut a leader. But all the same, use a wire leader for quite often when you're fishing for ing you'll get kingfish.

In addition to being an excellent game fish, the ling is choice eating. Big ling can be cut up into steaks and there are many who claim ling steaks are far superior to the famous and expensive swordfish steaks.

If you haven't tried fishing for ling, don.t pass up a chance this summer. Just fish around the buoys, lighthouses, oil rigs -- any floating flotsam and jetsam you can find.

CLARK GABLE and Vivina Leigh in a sceen from David O. Selznick's production of "Gone With the Wind". showing Sunday through Wednesday at Cameron's Milam Theatre. One of the great motion pictures of all time, the screen version of Margaret Mitchell's famous novel is presented by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in tribute to the year of the Civil War Centennial.

'Gone With Wind' Coming To Milam

When students measure milestones in movie magie, they usually put the "burning of Atlanta" sequence in "Gone With the Wind' at the top of the list.

The four - hour production comes to Cameron's Milam Theatre four days, starting Sunday.

That thrilling scene, which made movie history, will be seen again in David O. Selznick's memorable production of "Gon With The Wind," presented by Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer in tribute to the year of the Civil War Centennial. The fore - runner of today's big-scale epics, the screen version of Margaret Mitchell's enduring novel stars Clark Gable in his never-to - be forgotten role of Rhett Butler, Vivien Leigh, Leslie Howard and Olievia de Havilland in a giant cast including 59 principal players and thousands of extras.

Atlanta, Georgia, was recreated for the film as it appeared in 1864, when Union General William Tecumseh Sherman first laid seige to the city, then broke through the breastworks during this historic march to the sea. The Atlanta set covered 40 acres. More than 50 buildings were constructed together with 7,000 feet of streets. There were munition warehouses, which were burned by the retating Confederate soldiers.. cotton gins, an arsenal, houses, lumber yards and many other structures.

Tumultuous scenes show the panic - stricken populace fleeting the city, with plunging horses, artillery caissons, ammunition wagons, fire trucks and the assorted vehicles of the civilians all in mad confusion admist the flames.

For the statistically minded, it took three days to film the sequence by seven Technicolcr camers, following months of preparation. More than ,1000 sketches made from daguerro-types and photographs of the century-ago period were needed beofre actual work began on the huge set.

Other spectacular scenes in "Goon With the Wind" show the glittering charity ball at Tara, Scarlett's home, which represented the traditional chivalry and beauty of the Old South, the marching armies, the huge plantation sequences, the panorama and pageantry of a nation in conflict.

Assembling the huge case was a giant - sized project but the single, most impressive episode was the search for a girl to play Scarlett O'Hara. Producer Selznick conducted an international search over a period of two years. More than 1,400 candidates were interviewed and 90 were screen - tested, an all - time record. Finally, Selznick made the decision to start the picture without a Scarlett. He filmed the opening sequences of the burning of Atlanta and that night met Vivien Leigh. His search was over. The then unknown Miss Leigh subsequently won an Academy Award as "Best Actress" for her performance.

"Gone With the Wind" won a then unprecedented total of ten Academy Awards, including the Thalberg Award for top quality production.

VIEW ON SPORTS

— WITH ROBERT MANN —

Things are pretty quiet on the sports front this week, according to Yoe High School coaches, golfers, tennis players and every other news sports available at presstime.

The past week has been one in which athletes and coaches alike have had their share of mishaps. Yoe head coach, Billy Bates, has come down with a case of the mumps and will be out of action for two or three weeks.

This could mean bad things for his YHS baseball squad, whose picture wasn't to bright to start with.

180 pound junior tackle of last year, Bobby Hillman, is on crutches as the result of injuries received while playing pass football. Hillman and Stanley Kirk, another junior lineman, tripped over a concrete rolled used for smoothing the school track, while in hot persuit of a pass. Hillman's foot required several stitches and Kirk suffered knee injuries that may hinder his catching abilities the rest of the year.

VOS

The summer recreation program looks like it is going to be bigger and better than ever before this year with the addition of a Babe Ruth and Little League team. Fourteen teams in all will grace Cameron Field.

Teams are well on the way to being organized, coaches are still being appointed and some mothers are still in shock over the fact that their "little baby" is old enough to tote a ball and glove around.

Other summer activities will include the public swimming pool, the annual horse show held here every year and without doubt, more attention will be devoted to the new air - conditioned lanes.

Teenage boys with "mechanical thumbs" are keeping their eyes on the Little River dragstrip located at Academy. A number of locals won trophies there last year and intend to give an equal good showing this year.

TELEPHONE TALK

by C. L. Carson, Manager

HOME INTERPHONE

I'd like to tell you about a brand new service we have to offer. It's called the Home Interphone Telephone. It consists of a package of three telephones equipped with speaker and microphone unit and door unit. Now your family can enjoy a home communication system that uses telephones themselves. You can talk from room to room, call people to the phone, summon everyone to supper - things you have to do now by shouting or walking. Near each phone in the home is a small speaker which broadcasts the caller's voice. The person called can answer hands-free, if desired, because a small microphone in the phone's base picks up replies.

Home Interphone lets you answer the door, too, from the nearest extension. When the door bell rings and you are alone in the house, or ill, or dressing, you can find out your visitor's business safely, easily and without embarrassment. Just pick up a phone, push a button, and talk. Mounted by the door is a small microphone-speaker unit which broadcasts your voice, and carries your visitor's reply to the phone you are holding. You can have all this in connection with your telephone service for a small monthly charge.

SPRING PHONE FAIR

Well, by now most of us in Cameron don't need the weather man to tell us spring is here. There are signs of it everywhere. Have you noticed the kids lately . . . skipping rope, swinging bats, and chasing pop flies.

The grown - ups, too, are busy around the house. Painting and rearranging rooms, even adding on to the house itself to make it more comfortable for the family.

We're busy at the telephone company, too, getting ready for spring with an event called Spring Phone Fair. It is to be our way of reminding you about the many new telephone services we have to help you make your home more convenient and attractive.

For instance, how about a new phone in color for a bedroom, or a wall phone for the kitchen, playroom or work area. Perhaps you'd like the smart Princess phone for the living room . . . so little, so lovely and it lights. Or maybe you'd prefer the soft musical tones of the Bell Chime. You can see all of these new telephone services on display at our Spring Phone Fair in the telephone business office.

If you don't get a chance to see them and would like more information, just call OX 7-4601 — or ask any telephone service man.

FREE PROGRAMS FOR YOUR GROUP

Since some Cameron civic, church and social groups already are planning spring programs, this seems like a good time to remind you of our standing offer to provide entertainment and informative telephone programs for your organization.

A booklet describing the variety of programs available — films, talks, lecture-demonstration, telephone tours -- is yours for the asking. Must call the telephone business office, OX 7-4601.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

Center Moves Southwestward....

We noted in The Christian Science Monitor the other day that the population center has shifted about 50 miles southwest of the 1950 point.

Though it moved the center only this short distance in Illinois, the direction was southwest.

The new center point, surveyed upon population figures of 1960, was set at a farm near Centralia, Ill. The 1950 point was near Olney, Ill.

Just how population figures are translated into degrees, minutes and seconds on a surveyor's transit is beyond us. But Washington works wonders.

From Texas' viewpoint, it is good for future business to see a trend our way.

Fidel's Cause Faces Invasion...

There are rumbles of invasion in Cuba. The day of retribution for Castro's revolution, turned communist, is at hand.

Angry, rabid, incredible Fidel is finding bombs from his own planes unleased on Havana rooftops and Fidelista military targets. Berating President Kennedy, probably still popular in U. S. - mongering Cuba, is Castro's reaction.

But he has been labled by the Administration's "White Paper" and possibly chalked off by World Communist conspirators somewhere deep in the Kremlin.

He has become dupe of faithless, opportunist Moscow at the expense of Cuban freedoms, not to mention hundreds of millions in American dollars.

To the end, he will castigate everybody for "social reform." Beguiled, he will soon be alone in front of his TV cameras.

Court Decorum Gets Polish....

We congratulate judiciary and legal officials in Milam Courthouse for vitalizing the decorum of courtroom procedure and justice.

Since Dist-Atty. Jack Prescott's January seminar with county law officers and with Judges Don Humble and W. C. Wallace's able handling of all manner of cases the cause of justice has been enhanced in Milam County.

And facilities have been improved. A separate law library for use of lawyers has been established. This is not to mention the painting of the offices of county attorney, district judge, sheriff's department and installation of additional shelving for the county and district's law books.

Both County and District Courts are processing cases as they develop, unless due process of law requires additional time for plaintiffs or defendants.

These are essentials in the administration of justice. They polish courtroom procedure.

Money-Raising Bill In Order

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — Sometime between now and August 31, the Texas Legislature must come to a showdown, do-or-die, back - to - the - wall decision on a big new money-raising bill.

But many lawmakers believe the situation will have to have reached the desperate, no-choice-left stage before such a decision can be made. To meet current needs, say some lawmakers, the tax bill will have to be a big one and it's bound to bring static from voters.

Only way they can survive, said one, is to be able to say, "Look, I don't like this bill either. But what can we do ..... close the schools?"

In this climate, the House postponed floor action on the general sales tax measure by Reps. John Allen of Longview and Forrest Harding of San Angelo. Gov. Price Daniel attacked the bill as "obnoxious and inequitable," hitting everything "from the cradle to the grave.'

Governor Daniel urged compromise through a "package" bill. Ingredients for the package, he said, might be gotten from Rep. George Hinson's omnibus tax bill and Rep. Ben Atwell's selective sales tax measure.

Hinson's bill would hit in many areas -- watches, jewelry, power tools and machinery, construction materials, natural gas, restaurant meals, non - essential beverages, etc.

Atwell's bill is akin to a general sales tax except that it names the hundreds of items it would tax rather than making a blanket provision.

SENATE COOL TO TAX

With less than bubbling enthusiasm, Senate State Affairs began hearings on the first tax bill sent over by the House.

It is Rep. Charles Ballman's "loophole bill" designed to raise some $43,000,000 toward retiring an expected $63,000,000 deficit in the general revenue fund.

Senators listened with seeming sympathy to witness who criticized the bill's provision for a revised franchise tax formula and a gift tax. They listened, too, to a lengthy pro - sales tax discussion by Tom Sealy of Midland, chairman of the Citizens for a Sales Tax group.

Under the Ballman bill's broad caption, the Senate could add extensively to its revenue - raising features, but most observers doubt the Senate will be eager to seize the initiative at this stage.

CAMPAIGN LIMIT KILLED

A bill to limit campaign expenditures to $25,000 in a race for the U. S. senate or congressman at large was killed by the House, 83-50.

Sen. Martin Dies Jr. of Lufkin was sponsor of the bill which passed the Senate.

Supporters of the measure said that as things are "a rich man can buy his way into office." Opponents said the limit was unrealistic and that a newcomer to politics could never become known with such restrictions on a statewide race.

INSURANCE CHANGE FLOUNDERS

Sen. Grady Hazlewood's bill to set ground rules for the state's merit rating auto insurance has had at least a temporary setback.

Senate voted 16 - 13 to take up the bill. However, a two-thirds majority is needed to begin floor action.

Program No Better Than Leaders

By Cong. W. R. Poage

No farm program can be any better than its administration. I think we have a very good feed grain program. I think that it is going to help materially in bringing about a better balance between our production and our needs, in reducing our storage costs, and in stablizing both grain and livestock prices, but the program seemed almost lost (for Central Texas at least) during the past week.

There is little doubt but that the Department's acreage and production figures are quite inaccurate for this area. This is surely due in part to the fact that up on the Plains and in the Corn Belt States land is all surveyed in sections and it is much easier to know just how much is in a given crop than it is in our area of irregular fields. That there was some over-estimating on the part of farmers cannot be doubted, just as there seems to have been some under - estimating by those who have been reporting to the Department.

The law very plainly says that every farmer shall be given the history of his own farm regardless of these Departmental estimates. When I found that the Department was trying to bring the history of every farm into a preconceived mould, in spite of actual acreage or production, I contracted Secretary Freeman. He promptly instructed his people to correct the situation. Yesterday I was definitely assured that every farmer would have a chance to be heard before his own local committee, and if he could show that he had planted more acres or harvested more grain that he would be given credit for it – any county figures to the contrary notwithstanding.

This is as it should be. I thought that they could have avoided lots of work by simply starting with the County Committee's figures and allowing appeals from them, but the important thing is that farmers are to be given the opportunity to bring in their neighbors to establish their history.

With a background of seeking real history I believe the Department of Agriculture can expect to receive a more favorable reaction to their proposals for long term programs. I have just come from a conference with Secretary Freeman and Senator Ellender, Chairman of the Senate Committee. The Secretary has just given us an outline of the plan President Kennedy will send up next week. It is a comprehensive and complex program, some features of which I feel sure should and will be modified. Basically, however, it proposes to let farmers, through their own elected committees, prepare programs which after coordination through the Department of Agriculture will be considered (on behalf of all the people) by the Congress. I think that we need farmer cooperation to avoid unnecessary red tape

LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER

Philisopher Says Space Travel, Like Riding On A Bicycle, May Lose Its Novelty

Dear editar:

I was out here on this Johnson grass farm the other afternoon looking up at the sky and a neighbor stopped and asked: "What're you doing, looking for a Russian traveling through space?"

I told him nope, just looking for clouds.

Everyone I know has been excited, and a little concerned, about the Russian's getting the first man into space and it is an achievemene but I have a notion that the Russians, who threw their hats in the air when they heard they were first in space, spent the next few minutes looking for them on the ground, as hats spring from the products of the earth, not from space.

You will notice that man, when he goes into space, has to carry his own earth - produced oxygen with him, whereas I've already got all the oxygen I need completely this farm.

My point is, outer space may be interesting to look at the first trip or two out, but it could get mighty boring in the long run.

And as for our being behind the Russians in space, it's true but I'll tell you, I believe we can catch up and I believe we will. In the final analysis, a new scientific feat is impossible to get a monopoly on. You can't keep a secret very long. Everybody's got laboratories these days. It's sort of like the secret of the bicycle. One country at one time no doubt had the bicycle first, but once the idea was discovered, bicycles turned up all over.

The United States sooner or later will be sending men through space too, and this generation won't be over before we start having traffic collisions up there too, but I have a notion the novely will wear off and traveling through space may wind up like a man I know who saved up his money and traveled around the world. He said the trip was interesting, but the best sight he saw was the look of home when he got back. And you've got to remember this man was on the earth's surface, not going around it 150 miles up where you don't meet any new people and your main pasttime is wondering if there's a leak in your oxygen hose.

Report From The Confederacy —

Correspondent Reviews Happenings Which Lead To Civil War Opening

(Ed. Note: Our Herald correspondent on the scene at the battle at Ft. Sumter this week reports some of the conflicts and happenings that led to the beginning of the Civil War.)

CHARLESTON, S. C. —— The struggle between North and South which has culminated in the erection of the Confederate States of America by seven of the Southern States, became an armed conflict in the harbor at Charleston. The Confederate forces bombarded Union garrison at Fort Sumter and the Northern government finally abandoned the island.

The Northern Government had advised South Carolina's Governor Pickens that a war fleet was being sent to reinforce Ft. Sumter. In addition, Confederate commissioners in Washington had been given a curt note informing them that no further attempts at a peaceful settlement of the Sumter problem would be considered. With these actions Washington had notified the world that it was willing to rish a general war.

When this news of the departure of the Federal invasion fleet reached the Confederate troops, forces were immediately placed on alert and all leaves were cancelled.

Brigadier - General Pierre G. T. Beauregard notified Major Robert Anderson, the Union commander at Fort Sumter that his commissary officers would not be allowed to make further purchases of provisions in Charleston markets. Gov. Pickens had called up 3,000 additional South Carolina troops to reinforce the harbor defenses and the total Southern forces now amounted to 7,000 men, most of which were organized as heavy artillery units.

Cannon Ring Sumter

Construction of an ironclad floating battery mounting four huge cannons had been completed and the enormous structure towed into position off Sullivan's Island where it could pour a destructive fire into Sumter if the occasion demanded.

Gen. Beauregard had completed his survey of the harbor positions and all of the heavy armament laboriously assembled was then in position. Seventy - five cannons had been arranged in batteries which surround Fort Sumter with a ring of destructive power.

On Sullivan's Island, Fort Moultrie's 30 guns peered toward the Federal Fort. A five gun battery was located to the east. The Point Battery and Maffit Channel Battery commanded the seaward approaches. Two 10 - inch mortar batteries were also located on the island. The sullivan's Island garrison was commanded by Brigadier - General R. G. M. Dunovant.

Confederate guns dominate Federal position.

On Morris Island, Brigadier-General James Simons commanded forces which included the Cumming's Point a Battery of six guns, an ironclad battery of three 8-inch cannon, and the Trapier Mortar Battery. Other heavy guns were located on James Island.

Gen. Beauregard had concentrated his greatest weight of metal on Sullivan's Island and at Cumming's Point. The latter was less than a mile from Sumter.

Assault Impossible

The reduction of Fort Sumter was proven a formidable task. Its enormous stone walls were pierced for three tiers of heavy guns although it was believed that only a portion of these were in place. Storming the fort was almost impossible in the face of the land and water mines the Federals had rigged at the water's edge. Workmen formerly employed at the fort reported that thousands of handgrenades had been prepared for the defenders for use against any assailing force.

The atmosphere in the harbor was reminiscent of the tension which preceded the great hurricane which sometimes strike these coasts. Even the sounds of the routine morning signal gun sent citizens hurrying to the waterfront in fearful expectation of the arrival of the Federal fleet.

Gov. Pickens had expressed anger at the Union authorities due to the recent events.

Governor Angered

Gov. Pinkens told reporters "They have hounded us out of the Union and now they are trying to hound us back in."

"Even worse," he continued, "They are trying to make us fire the first shot so that they can assume the position of the injured party; hoping that we will thus alienate the people of Virginia and the other Southern States still in the Union."

The Governor's fear of unfavorable public opinion in Virginia was not shared by the Honorable Roger Pryor, one of the Old Dominion's leading political figures and an outspoken advocate of Southern shared by the Honorable Roger Pryor, one of the Old Dominion's leading political figures and an outspoken advocate of Southern Independence. Addressing a large crowd from the balcony of his Charleston hotel, he said that Virginia will join the Confederacy immediately if the Federals cause war.

The cheers that followed his speech were silenced by a blue signal light appearing from Sumter.

Smoking Out Coons

Don't smoke coons, possums, or squirrels out of dens or hollow trees. You can casue a disastrous forest fire by doing so.

Instead, tie a wad of cloth on a stock and soak in common household ammonia. Thrust ammonia-soaked end of stick in tree hollow or den and the occupant will hustle out in a hurry.

A rush of power— in the hush of luxury

Just toe the pedal and off you go. Instantly. Without strain. Swift as a bird. And as the miles fly by, suddenly you sense the luxurious silence of Buick's great new Wildcat V-8. Realize it whispers as softly at expressway speed as it does at 30. Because it's been streamlined—inside and out—to give you more go (but on less gas!). And it's teamed up with a new, trigger-quick Turbine Drive (at no extra cost!) that's smoother and quieter than ever.

But Buick pampers you in other ways, too. With lavish room for heads, shoulders and legs. Wider doors and flatter floors. Deeper, softer seats. Body by Fisher. The elegant Clean Look of Action. Sound like your type? See your Buick Dealer today.

'61 BUICK

Exciting new proof . . . when better automobiles are built, Buick will build them.
